The Session Law Firm Attorneys to Serve on Association of Defense Communities Panel

KANSAS CITY, MO. (July 17, 2009) – Two associates from The Session Law Firm, an environmental law firm based in Kansas City, Mo., will present at the upcoming Association of Defense Communities \(ADC\) 2009 Annual Conference.

Shawna Bligh will moderate, and Chris Wendelbo will speak in a session titled Turning Lemons into Lemonade: How to Remediate and Redevelop Underfunded Contaminated Sites, Including Formerly Used Defense Sites and Other Contaminated Former Military Federal Facilities.

“Redeveloping contaminated sites is always a challenge. Never is this more apparent than when dealing with contaminated Base Closure and Realignment Commission (BRAC) Sites, Formerly Used Defense Sites (FUDS) and other contaminated former military and federal facilities,” said Bligh. “This program will focus upon this unique universe of sites and provide a model of how lemons can be turned into lemonade.”

The ADC conference takes place in Boston, Ma., on August 2-5, 2009. The theme of the conference is Military Communities: Responding to Change and is targeted for communities with active, closed or closing military installations, interested private sector companies and organizations, and representatives of the Department of Defense and other federal and state agencies.
