

The Session Law Firm Attorneys Involved in Project Recognized by the President's Council on Environmental Quality.

KANSAS CITY, MO. (March 30, 2010) – Two associates from The Session Law Firm, an environmental law firm based in Kansas City, Mo., were recently involved in assisting a client with environmental compliance issues, including navigating the requirements associated with the use of stimulus funds, which led to formal recognition of the project by the President's Council on Environmental Quality (CEQ), a very high compliment.

Shawna Bligh and Chris Wendelbo worked on a team of professionals to facilitate development of the Palestine Commons Senior Living Facility, a project which involves the construction of 69-units of elderly housing in a three-story structure in Kansas City, Missouri. The process helped ensure satisfaction of mandated environmental requirements and that all units will be constructed to the Energy Star performance standard. This will likely be one of the largest multi-family buildings in the Kansas City metropolitan area to meet Energy Star requirements.

The project was recognized by the CEQ as an example of the environmental compliance successes associated with the use of funds provided under the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act.

About The Session Law Firm

The Session Law Firm has delivered compelling solutions in the practice of environmental law for over 15 years. When experience meets innovation, the results are impressive. Add a responsive group of exceedingly knowledgeable attorneys, and you have The Session Law Firm. When the deepest understanding of the environment is required and innovation in crafting solutions to complex environmental legal challenges is necessary, The Session Law Firm excels.

Project Recognized by the President's Council on Environmental Quality

March 30, 2010

Page 2 of 2

The firm has been involved in complex environmental cases in legally significant, multi-defendant Superfund enforcement actions in the Midwest and throughout the United States. For more information, visit www.session.com.

###