William T. Session Inducted to the American College of Environmental Lawyers

KANSAS CITY, MO. (August 12, 2009) – William T. Session, managing partner of The Session Law Firm, an environmental law firm based in Kansas City, Mo., has been inducted to the American College of Environmental Lawyers \(ACOEL\).

The ACOEL is a professional association of distinguished private sector lawyers who practice in the field of environmental law. Membership is by invitation and members are recognized by their peers as preeminent in their field. ACOEL members are dedicated to maintaining and improving the ethical practice of environmental law, the administration of justice, and the development of environmental law at both the state and federal level.

“One of the greatest compliments is when you are recognized for your accomplishments by your peers,” said Session. “With more attention focused on environmental law than ever before, I fully believe in the mission of the ACOEL members and look forward to contributing as a part of this prestigious group.”

Mr. Session received his Juris Doctor degree from the University of Missouri at Columbia School of Law in 1977. He also received a Masters of Business Administration degree from the University of Missouri at Columbia School of Business in 1974. Mr. Session has over 25 years of experience representing clients in a wide variety of environmental law related cases. He has represented principal defendants in multi-defendant Superfund enforcement actions. Mr. Session has tried one of the very few CERCLA (Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation, and Liability Act) contribution cases in the country.
